I had a dream of odder night,
When every thing was still;
I dreamed I saw of Hazzard's men
A coming down the river,
November voices ran in bands,
To hear war in a day;
I saw 'em coming from de polis,
No leaves could they cry,
Down On Levee,
No Kearsie did them "old crows,"
We've beaten badly at de polis,
Captures, loot and dragons.

of our manufacturers, thus securing a fair, full pay for a freeman's honest day's labor.

Here let us pause, and cast our thoughts toward our dear old home. Where now has her 7,000 loaves of bread once more, and brought joy and home-comforts to the honest and sturdy weavers? Silent, all silent, and why? England's free trade policy, which the Democrats seek to fasten on our own America. Why so much of misery in Ireland? Why do wives and children cry? Why do the husband and father stand in heart-broken anguish? Why are strong, true, brave men beggars, living upon the alms of charity? It is not because Ireland is not a grand country. There are no fairer valleys, no greener hills, nor any lovelier climate. It is not because the sons of old Ireland are not honest, industrious, and frugal. It is because the policy of England allows no manufactures in Ireland, and that selfsame policy the Democrats would incorporate in the political economy of our America. Do you say they would not? We point you to Italy, they would not? We point you to
